Application Instructions

Application for Admission to the Accelerated LLM Program

Northwestern’s Accelerated LLM program results in a general master of laws degree, not a specialized one. Degree candidates must complete at least 20 semester hours of credit over the course of one or two summers. A cumulative grade point average of 2.5 or better is mandatory. (C=2, C+=2.33, B=3, B+=3.33, A=4, A+=4.3)

Students may meet the Accelerated LLM degree requirements in one of two ways: by completing all of the requirement during the course of one summer, or completing the degree requirements over the course of two summers.

Bar Eligibility

Only some states permit foreign lawyers to take the bar examination, and each state has its own requirements as to prior legal education, coursework in a US LLM program, and other matters. For many students, admission to one or more states is possible if the appropriate courses and the bar examination are completed. While the Law School does not guarantee bar exam eligibility to Accelerated LLM students for any state, the California State Bar has notified Northwestern University School of Law that the current Accelerated LLM program will qualify a student to take the California Bar Exam. Along with other courses in the Accelerated LLM program, students must satisfactorily complete the Professional Responsibility course offered in the Accelerated LLM program to meet California Bar Exam eligibility requirements. Please refer to the Comprehensive Guide to Bar Admission Requirements for more information on bar exam eligibility requirements for any state.

Admissions and Application Information

Applicants to the Accelerated LLM program must hold a first degree in law from a university or college whose law degree requirements are comparable to Northwestern’s. Although there are no rigid standards for class ranking or grade-point average, accepted applicants generally have ranked at or near the top of their law school classes or have otherwise demonstrated exceptional academic promise.

Applications for admission are considered only for the current year and for full-time registration. There is no part-time or evening program or mid-year entry.

A completed application to the Accelerated LLM Program consists of the following:

- The Application for Admission form, which must include the signed certification statement at the end (or electronic signature, if applying electronically).
- A nonrefundable $75 application fee in the form of a check or money order in US dollars, payable to Northwestern University or paid electronically by credit card via LSAC.
- Essay Questions (may be electronically attached). Please see the section titled "Essay Questions" for specific instructions.
- An official copy of the applicant's LLM Credential Assembly Service (LLM CAS) report that includes official transcripts from all institutions of higher education attended, the transcript authentication and evaluation of transcripts, a valid TOEFL score report and a letter of recommendation.
- Curriculum vitae/résumé written in English.
- Evaluative interview (encouraged but not required)

Application Deadline—January 15

Deadline for receipt of completed applications for the Accelerated LLM Program.

Application Filing Period

The Admissions Committee may exclude from consideration any application received after the deadline or incomplete at that date. Accelerated LLM applicants whose files are complete by the deadline will be notified of admission decisions by the beginning of March.

All prospective students for the Accelerated LLM program are encouraged to submit their completed applications before January 1 of the year in which they wish to begin their studies. Early submission of application materials allows time for correspondence between the school and the applicant in case of deficiencies in the application. Applicants should note... that the delivery of mail from abroad may be delayed.

Online Application

You should complete your law school application on the web at www.law.northwestern.edu/admissions or through the Law School Admission Council's (LSAC) Electronic Applications.

Application Updates

While the Office of Admissions and Financial Aid seeks to keep the applicant informed of progress on the application and the receipt of documents, it is the applicant’s responsibility to ensure that all parts of the application reach the Office of Admissions and Financial Aid by the deadline. Upon submission of an application, applicants will be provided with instructions on how to check the status of their applications via an online tool. Applicants who do not provide an e-mail address will be responsible for tracking their application status by directing inquiries to the Office of Admissions. The Admissions Committee does not review incomplete applications.

All correspondence should be addressed to Northwestern Law, Office of Admissions and Financial Aid, Degree Programs for International Students, 375 East Chicago Avenue, Chicago, Illinois 60611-3069, USA; phone 312.503.8465; fax 312.503.0178; e-mail admissions@law.northwestern.edu.

Personal Statement

In place of a traditional personal statement, you will be asked to answer two essay questions, which can be found within the application under the heading "Essay Questions." Please follow the directions and answer each question separately in a one to two-page double-spaced essay.

Letter of Recommendation

Applicants must submit a confidential letter of recommendation from a previous or current employer or from a member of the applicant’s law faculty.

Applicants must comply with LSAC requirements and policies regarding letters of recommendation, and submit the letters with the LSAC forms to the LLM Credential Assembly Service.

Transcripts

Applicants with foreign legal education credentials must use the Law School Admission Council’s LLM Credential Assembly Service. Further information regarding the LLM Credential Assembly Service can be found at LSAC.org.

Those applicants with foreign education credentials for whom the LLM CAS fee represents a significant financial burden may submit the transcript form, official transcripts (and translations, if required) and documentation of class rank directly to the Office of Admissions. Applicants submitting their transcripts directly to the law school with their application should provide the identifying information required on the Transcript Request Form included in the supplemental application and send the form to the registrar’s office of each college or university. Applicants who have attended more than one college or university should make a copy of the request form for each institution attended. Official academic records should give results for all coursework as well as results of comprehensive or yearly examinations. Transcripts that do not bear the registrar’s signature and/or the institution's seal are not official and are unacceptable. All transcripts should be in English translation. The applicant should mail them, unopened, to Northwestern.

In instances where a school does not furnish transcripts, school officials should certify courses completed and grades received as well as results of qualifying, comprehensive, or professional examinations where possible. If the applicant’s college or university is not able to provide such a certification of academic record due to special circumstances, the applicant should obtain from school officials an explanation of the circumstances and submit it and a self-reported summary of studies, including, where possible, courses or seminars attended at the institution, grades received, examination results, and copies of certificates or instructor’s evaluations. The Admissions Committee may request verification of self-reported academic records.

English Language Requirements

Students in the Accelerated LLM program must have a high level of English proficiency in order to read the large amount of course material, to research and write papers and exams, and to participate in class discussions. Foreign applicants who are not native speakers of English should take the TOEFL/IELTS examination and have an official copy of the score report sent from ETS/IELTS directly to the LSAC LLM Credential Assembly Service (institution code 1565), and it will be reported in your credential evaluation. Since it may take two months or more for the score report to reach the law school, an applicant should take the TOEFL/IELTS no later than December of the year prior to enrollment. An application will not be complete and ready for review until the law school receives the official score report. Northwestern looks for a TOEFL score of at least 100 on the Internet-based test (IBT) and a IELTS score of at least a 7.0. The law school will accept scores up to two years after the test date. We no longer accept the paper-based TOEFL (PBT) Examination. We only accept IBT TOEFL Examinations. For further information about the TOEFL examination write to TOEFL Services Educational Testing Service, PO Box 6151, Princeton, NJ 08541-6151, USA or call 1.609.921.9000.

If you have completed a first degree/undergraduate degree in law at an institution where the language of instruction is in English, you must notify the Admissions Committee by requesting a waiver of the TOEFL/IELTS requirement. Please submit a brief letter, electronic attachment, or e-mail to the committee indicating the institution's name, location, and length of the degree program completed. Waivers are granted on a case by case basis. If you are granted a waiver, you will be required to participate in an evaluative interview. Our e-mail address is admissions@law.northwestern.edu.

Curriculum Vitae/Résumé

Accelerated LLM applicants should have a minimum of one year of full-time legal or business-related work experience. A description of that employment should be included in a one to two-page curriculum vitae (CV) or résumé written in English.

Interviews for Accelerated LLM Applicants

An evaluative admissions interview for the Accelerated LLM program is highly encouraged. Please visit the admissions website for instructions on how to sign up for an on-campus or Skype/phone interview. Off-campus interviews are not available. These evaluative interviews provide the Admissions Committee with additional information about your interpersonal skills, English proficiency, maturity, and motivation. The interview also provides you with the opportunity to gain additional insight into the Northwestern Law experience.

Reapplicants

If you are reapplying to the law school, you must submit a complete application, nothing from a previous application is kept on file. This full application will include the application form, an updated personal statement, a new letter of recommendation, an updated curriculum vitae/résumé, official LLM CAS report with an official TOEFL score report. The fee for reapplication is the same as that for first-time applicants: $75.

Tuition and Financial Aid

Tuition for the Accelerated LLM program is listed at http://www.law.northwestern.edu/admissions/tuitionaid/. Tuition increases should be anticipated each year.

In addition to tuition, the Law School charges the following non-refundable fees:

- Application fee $75
- Deposit $750 (required of admitted applicants who accept a space in the entering class)
- Late payment penalty fee $200

Fellowships

A limited amount of fellowship assistance is available that typically cover only a portion of the Accelerated LLM program. Students in this program may qualify for loans, as discussed below.

Loans

Instructions on completing the financial aid application can be found at www.law.northwestern.edu/admissions/tuitionaid/. Under current federal regulations, only US citizens and permanent residents are eligible for federal student loans. Applicants who are not eligible for federal student loans may qualify for a university-administered or other private loan program (as outlined at www.northwestern.edu/sfs/loan_instruc_info/private_loans.html). Loans for international students require a creditworthy US citizen/permanent resident co-signer. If there is no co-signer, applicants should investigate loan opportunities in their home countries.

US citizens/permanent residents and international students with qualified co-signers should complete a 2015-2016 Need Access application online (www.needaccess.org) to be considered for all loan programs. The application will become available online after January 2.
US citizens and permanent residents who wish to apply for a federal student loan should also submit the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) to determine their eligibility for federal loan programs. The FAFSA form is available online at www.fafsa.ed.gov. Individuals may also need to submit a signed copy of their 2014 federal tax return and W-2s to Northwestern. Individuals will be contacted via email should our Financial Aid Office require these forms.

Employment

There are no teaching or research fellowships for graduate students at the law school, and Department of Homeland Securities regulations may prohibit students from seeking outside employment during their studies. The Accelerated LLM Program demands time-consuming study and research, and experience has shown that it is difficult for students to complete the academic work if they are employed. Students with questions about employment should discuss them with the program director of the Accelerated LLM Program.

Visa Requirements

To qualify for a visa, foreign students admitted to the Degree Programs for International Students must demonstrate their ability to fund one year of graduate study at the law school. Most students choose to enter the United States under an F-1 student visa or a J-1 exchange visitor visa. For additional information about visa options and regulations and immigration policies, contact a US embassy.
